RIO DE JANEIRO, AUGUST 15th, 1893.

BEFORE Congress adjourns at least one preliminary measure should be adopted for the improvement of educational methods in Brazil. We do not wish to have it understood that we are in favor of changing the national government with this work, but as little can be expected as yet from the state governments and from private individuals, the national government might with propriety take the initiative with respect to the federal district. It is not necessary to dwell upon the prevailing illiteracy throughout the country, the lack of schools, the crudity of those which exist, and the defective methods of teaching employed, for these facts and conditions are well known. What we do wish to urge, however, is the circumstance that much of all this is due to the lack of well trained teachers. That teachers are scarce is in great measure due to the low social position which they have, and to the miserable pay given them, and these conditions depend very largely upon the fact that they are untrained and incapable of winning the respect due to their occupation. The first reform needed, therefore, is in the training of teachers. To assist in this the government might well provide for the creation of a really good normal school in this city on the same lines followed by President Sarmiento in Argentina. To do this American normal teachers should be engaged and given full control of the organization and direction of the school, and they should be given the means required for making the school first class in every respect. As a secondary measure, the government might establish a certain number of scholarships for each state, the student agreeing to teach a certain number of years after graduation in consideration for the assistance thus rendered. In the course of four or five years such a normal school could begin to send out properly trained teachers and good results in popular education should follow at once.

The action of the executive in disregarding the orders of the Supreme Court on the 9th inst., in relation to the habeas corpus proceedings in favor of the civilians captured on the Jupiter, was a very serious mistake. No constitutional government can afford to openly violate the fundamental principles of law and justice in so flagrant a manner. When the country reaches the point where the executive can not trust the highest courts, and where so dangerous a revolutionary sentiment exists that the executive can not safely obey an order of the courts, then the situation is grave enough for a declaration of martial law and for the suspension of the right of habeas corpus. But, it is not claimed that such a situation exists, consequently there was no excuse whatever for the refusal of the executive to present its prisoners before the court. Its failure to uphold the authority and dignity of the highest court in the country, is in itself revolutionary and demoralizing. More than this, it is a demonstration that there is no security whatever in Brazil against the arbitrary acts of those in power. Under such a regime there is no security whatever for life, liberty and property, nor is there a recourse against the losses and injuries which the individual may sustain at the hands of the government. Such a position is wholly at variance with the free institutions which are supposed to exist in Brazil. We can not accept the reasons advanced by the executive for disobeying the orders of the court, nor can we accept the release of the prisoners on the following day as an apology for the offence. It is not for the executive to set aside judicial rulings, nor to determine what laws are in force. An order or a decision issuing from the Supreme Court ought to be the highest authority in the country, except in times of war, and until this becomes the accepted and established law there will be neither security nor justice for the people. It may not suit the purposes of military men to recognize so much authority in the civil courts, but they must either accept the law and the fact, or see the country drift into hopeless anarchy.

The recent revolutions in Argentina are so closely in line with the only possible movement toward the rescue of that country from bankruptcy and disgrace, that we can not repress an expression of profound regret for the reaction, temporary though it may be, which appears to have gained the ascendancy in Buenos Aires. It is possible that many good people there, as well as in other parts of the world, are frightened at the name assumed by the party of reform, for to many the word "radical" means heresy of every sort and description. In Argentina this party includes many of the purest and ablest men in the country, and to this it may be added that they are the most patriotic, for they have the courage of their convictions and are resolved to expel the thieves from office and to punish them for their crimes. When Aristobulo del Valle undertook to form a cabinet only a few weeks ago, it was generally thought that he would fail, but in this short period he and his colleagues have done more to re-establish Argentina in the good opinion of the world than has been accomplished since the days of Sarmiento. In this brief period many a parasite has been expelled from office, and many a knave who has been swindling the treasury, has been called to account. It was a mistake, perhaps, for the party to inaugurate revolutions in the provinces for the expulsion of their corrupt governments, but as they were using every effort to obstruct the reforms projected by the Del Valle cabinet it may not have been possible to postpone this revolutionary movement. Being in full sympathy with these revolutions, the position of the cabinet was delicate and difficult, and the more so as a majority of Congress is hostile to their plans and purposes. With that fatal indecision and weakness which has characterized his government from the beginning, President Saenz Pena seems to have suddenly resolved to oppose the measures advocated by his ministers for the redemption of Buenos Aires. This has led to the collective resignation of the Del Valle cabinet, and to the selection of Dr. Quintana to organize a new one, which has been effected within the limits of the "unitist" party. In view of the reforms which Del Valle had initiated and of the popularity and confidence which he and his associates had won from all classes, this reactionary movement is nothing less than a national disaster. The indications are, however, that Quintana will now be obliged to follow closely the policy initiated by Del Valle, or give way in a very short time for the return of his popular and courageous predecessor.

From the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, July 15th.

CODE MESSAGES TO BRAZIL.

The members of the New York Coffee Exchange have instructed their board of managers to send a letter to Secretary Gresham, asking him to procure the modification of the orders issued by the Brazilian government with regard to the transmission of code messages. The letter is addressed to the Honorable W. D. Gresham, secretary of state. It follows:

New York, July 13, 1893.

Honorable W. D. Gresham, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

Sir:—The Brazilian government, among the telegraphic lines along the Brazilian coast, has prohibited all cipher dispatches from the United States to Brazil, but allowing messages in cipher to be sent from Brazil to the United States. This places our merchants, and especially the coffee trade of the United States, at a great disadvantage, and in a heavy expense. I respectfully submit to you consideration, in behalf and under most actions of the board of managers of this Exchange, the feasibility of inducing the Brazilian government to modify the prohibition as to allowing the merchants of Brazil, correspondents of American merchants, to lodge with the proper government officials of Brazil their cable and cipher correspondence, and to translate their correspondence, and to translate them in presence and under the direction of the proper officials.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has had the following letter written and forwarded to Secretary of State Gresham:

New York, July 14, 1893.

Honorable W. D. Gresham, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—The government of Brazil has issued instructions, on account of political disturbances, forbidding the use of cipher or code words in telegrams sent to Brazil.

As ciphers or codes have always been in universal use by the commercial public for cable messages, these instructions cannot but result in great inconvenience and in the restriction of business.

The Coffee Exchange of New York mourns, and that it has therefore written to you in the hope that your department may endeavor to induce the Brazilian government to so modify its instructions as to permit correspondents of American merchants to lodge with the proper government officials their cable and cipher codes, and to permit the addressees of the messages to translate them in the presence and under the direction of the proper government officials.

The Exchange also asks that the Western Union Telegraph Company shall induce its request, as the action of the Brazilian government will naturally have an influence upon the volume of cable messages. I shall be very glad if you will exercise such powers as your department may have in favor of the request of the Coffee Exchange.

I have the honor to be yours very truly,

THOMAS T. ECKERT, President.

The announcement made on Tuesday by the Eastern Telegraph Company is ominous of fresh political trouble in Brazil. It seems that institutions have been received from the international bureau at Athens to the effect that telegrams for Brazil can only be accepted in plain language without figures or code words of any kind, and further that messages containing any allusion to Brazilian political affairs cannot be accepted. Of course, as a great measure in the charge of the Eastern Telegraph Company, it is not calculated to exercise a reassuring effect upon holders of Brazilian securities in Europe. A cablegram transmitted from Valparaiso to New York lifts the curtain a little from what is passing in Brazil, and gives us a clue to the action of the government in establishing a censorship over the telegraph. The revolutions, according to this account, have made a combined assault by sea and land upon Rio Grande do Sul, the forces being commanded by General Sanjurjo and an admiral replying in the charming name of Wendenholke. The result is not known, because the government, having still possession of the wires, has refused to allow messages to be sent. From this it would appear that the fortune of war is going against the authorities, for it is a time-honored custom in South America to suppress defeats and wire victories only.—The Rattle, London, July 15th.

RIVER PLATE ITEMS.

—Gold was quoted at 346 in Buenos Aires yesterday.

—The Argentine province of Corrientes is again in the throes of revolution.

—The customs receipts at Montevideo in July amounted to $539,414.11 on imports and $39,831.83 on exports.

—There were 754 passenger and immigrant arrivals at Montevideo, from across seas, in the month of June, while the departures numbered 862. Among these there were 235 arrivals from and 78 departures to Brazil.

—In the Buenos Aires revolution the converging point of the revolutionists for the attack on La Plata was Temperley, one of the new suburban towns on the Southern railway, where many English families have their residences.

—The San Luis revolution seems to have been carried out by only 40 men under the orders of Teodoro Sa. The majority of his force was composed of schoolmasters, about 25 in all, who distinguished themselves by their bravery.

—Minister Vilelmo Muniz was formally received by the President of Uruguay on the 2nd inst. There was an unusual amount of "solidarity" and ceremony shown on the occasion, owing perhaps to the presence of two Brazilian men-of-war in the port.

—Buenos Aires telegrams of yesterday announce a fight at La Plata between the revolutionists and national troops engaged in disarming the combatants. Several persons were killed and wounded. A general revolution against the Saenz Pena government is now feared.

—It is stated that Dr. Manuel Garcia de Zúñiga will shortly leave for the United States on a "reversed mission" believed to be the negotiation with North American capitalists in the carrying out of the Zafra canal and other hatched enterprises.—Montevideo Times, August 2.

—Ex-President Roca has at last sent in his formal resignation as a member of the Argentine senate. It is to be hoped that it will be promptly accepted and that the "general" will at once carry out his resolve to go to Europe. General Roca can better serve his country in Europe, Asia, or Africa, than at home.

—A Montevideo telegram of the 10th says that Francisco Yaxares, José Estigarribia and Lourenço Oliveira have been arrested and interned by the Uruguayan authorities in the department of Melo, and that orders are out for internment Francisco Maciel, Elyseu Maciel and Benito de S. Lutz—all prominent leaders in the Rio Grande revolution.

—During the brief struggle in Rosario on the 30th and 31st ult. and the 1st inst., the losses on both sides are said to have been about 100 killed and 300 wounded. The provincial force was composed of policemen, fugitives and the men found in the prison, numbering about 500 men in all. The revolutionary force numbered only 500 men on the first day, but were reinforced by 300 men from the Esperanza colony on Monday.

—The Argentine government has ordered Messrs. Franchini & Co. to return in three days the $240,000 received on account of the famous "phantom ship." This is one of the celebrated swindles, where money was paid out on forged certificates of work done. It would not be far wrong, perhaps, if the officials who connived in the swindle should also be held accountable. Returning stolen goods is in penalty for the crime of theft!

—The continuo at Barracas al Sal was very cleverly trapped by Commander Rawson and a few city men. When hearing the continuo, Rawson ordered the trumpet to give the signal of "ready," "present," "fire," when the continuo appeared and immediately gave himself up, as he was under the impression that the national troops were upon him, and his wrath was great when he found that he had surrendered to a small detachment of men.—Acrosta, Buenos Aires.

—The Argentine government has ordered the disarmament of the province of Corrientes. The revolutions in Buenos Aires and Santa Fé developed the fact that a large quantity of arms and ammunition had been secretly retained in those provinces. At La Plata a million cartridges and a large number of dynamite bombs were found after the surrender of the city. A number of English bank and mercantile clerks voluntarily joined the ranks of the revolutionists.

—At least 15,000 persons joined in the procession in the Recoleta cemetery, Buenos Aires, on Sunday, July 30th, in lay wreaths on the tombs of those who died fighting for the revolution in July, 1891. The streets and balconies were filled and flowers were thrown down on the procession by the ladies. The cemetery near the residence was filled with a compact mass of people. Orations were delivered by Drs. Joaquín Castellanos and Conrado Escobar Zavaleta and then the crowd dispersed in perfect order.

—It is amusing to read the comments in the London papers just received on the new Argentine cabinet. They speak of this cabinet, which has already done such wonders and has proved itself the best and strongest Argentina has had for many years, as a state ministry due to an ephemeral existence, and they speak in equally denigrating terms of Minister Del Valle, who has, during their predictions, proved himself the hero of the hour and the coming man in Argentina, and who has even shown himself capable of matching that greatly overrated individual General Roca. If Del Valle does nothing else than succeed in breaking the tradition which has caused Roca to be looked on as the only strong man and possible savior in Argentina, he will have done the nation a signal service. A few decided moves have taken place and Roca is already comparatively out of the game in which he has for too long occupied a leading place and one not employed in the good of the nation. Argentina will gain more than she loses by his retirement for he has been in league with many of her worst enemies, and his party was not one which contributed to regeneration or advancement.—Montevideo Times, August 4.

—On Monday last the new Argentine frigate Independencia arrived in the river from England, where she has just left the yard of Messrs. Laird Brothers. She is a sister ship to the Libertad, but has several important improvements. One of the improvements is in the three living apartments, one in the saloon, mess-room, another in that of the officers, and the third in the captain's room. She has two electric search-lights, one forward and the other aft; with the exception of these alterations the two vessels are identical. —Revista, Buenos Aires, Aug. 5th.

—Hundreds of colonists joined the ranks of the revolutionists when marching near Santa Fé. A special body of Swiss sharpshooters, 100 strong, was formed under the command of Sr. Stein, a million of a paper published in Estados Unidos. The first encounter between the Santa Fé troops and the Swiss battalion took place just outside the city of Santa Fé, where the former were driven back in a few minutes, leaving fifty of their number dead. The splendid marksmanship of the Swiss must have instilled great fear into the government troops, as they are not accustomed to meet with such menacing aim in revolutionary encounters. —Revista, Buenos Aires.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

AUGUST 7.—Senate.—Senator Christianiano Ottom spoke against the bill for a railway from Rio de Janeiro to Entre Rios. The building of this road would, he said, detract from the value of the Central railway and consequently from the public credit which that road contributes towards sustaining. The present block on the Central railway he considers temporary, due to freight which under normal circumstances would pay to Santos. He thinks that the proposed road would deprive the Central railway of from 50,000 to 100,000 tons of freight per annum. —Chamber of Deputies.—Deputy Bellamini de Mendonça denounced the abuses committed by the government. Among the acts which he considers abusive is the appointment of President Pimenta as member of the supreme military court. The railway bill was read in 2nd discussion with amendments. Deputy Epitacio Pessoa introduced a bill granting a pension of 2,400 to the widow of Dr. Cordeiro, killed in Santa Catharina by the revolutionists, who attacked the official residence of the governor of the state.

AUGUST 8.—Senate.—The bill granting amnesty to the persons involved in the disturbances in Santa Catharina was voted in 3rd discussion. —Chamber of Deputies.—The budget committee reported on the estimates of the department of finance, proposing to reduce to $3,613,492.663 the sum of $4,707,310.872, for which the government had asked.

AUGUST 9.—Senate.—Senator João Neiva spoke in favor of the bill for a railway from Rio de Janeiro to Entre Rios. —Chamber of Deputies.—While the Chamber was engaged in discussing the bill on public lands Deputy Jacques Onizque, taking the floor, said that he had just arrived from the supreme court, where rules had been positively disobeyed by the government. That court had issued a writ of habeas corpus for the civilians who were on the Jequitia when that steamer was captured. Setting at defiance that writ, the government had failed to present the prisoners. Such acts of the government, if they are not checked, will destroy the republic, whose prestige and honor he called upon Congress to save, if it is not aware of this. This speech, which produced much excitement in the Chamber, was repeatedly interrupted and, when it was finished, Deputy Vinhas rose and made a short and vehement speech, which he concluded by resigning his seat in Congress. Deputy Justino Serpa moved to ask for a copy of the letter addressed by the government to the supreme court and to inquire why the government had failed to present the prisoners for whom the court had issued a writ of habeas corpus.

AUGUST 10.—Senate.—The Senate adopted the report of the committee on the constitution and finance on the question of the collection of import duties by state governments. Senator Christianiano Ottom spoke against the bill for a railway between Rio de Janeiro and Entre Rios. This road, he said, cannot be built in less than six years and consequently will be of no avail for relieving the present congestion of the Central railway. —Chamber of Deputies.—The Chamber voted to suspend the rules to enable Deputy Sena to offer a resolution on the following day. The Chamber voted in 2nd discussion the bill on the original de contos and in 1st discussion several bills on general railway systems. The Senate's amendments to the budget of the department of foreign affairs were rejected. The Chamber concurred in the amendment to the army bill. The budget of the war department was voted in 2nd discussion, and in 1st discussion the bill granting a subsidy of 500,000 per annum to a line of steamers between Pará, Maranhão, Ceará, Pernambuco, Macau, Lisbon, Barcelona, Marseilles and Genoa.

AUGUST 11.—Senate.—The Senate rejected by a vote of 27 to 11 the bill for granting to P. Danker a charter for building a railway from Rio de Janeiro to Entre Rios via Petropolis. —Chamber of Deputies.—The Chamber voted in 2nd discussion the bill for the appointment of assistants in the solicitor of the republic and solicitor of the Treasury, and also the bill on judicial costs.

AUGUST 12.—Senate.—The committee on finance reported on the bill from the Chamber of Deputies making a deficiency appropriation of 955,125.105 for the department of justice and interior. It appears that the greater part, if not all, of this money has been already expended and the committee states that many of the items of expenditure are improperly classified. It says, however, that, being unable to remedy the evil, it assumes the responsibility of recommending the passing of the bill, expressing at the same time the hope that such irregularities will not again occur. The committee on the constitution and legislation moved to ask for documents in relation to the arrest and confinement of Senator Wandenkolk. Senator João Neiva censured the delay with which this business has been concluded. In conformity with

Art. 20 of the constitution the finding of the court of inquiry should have been immediately transmitted to the Senate. As the congressional session is about to close, Senator Wandenkolk, if the documents now demanded are not speedily forthcoming, will be deprived until next year of his right to be tried. After a speech from Senator Quintino Bocayara, Senator Manuel de Moraes took the floor and urged the necessity of prompt action in this matter. Whether innocent or guilty, Senator Wandenkolk has a right to be tried. If there is delay in furnishing the documents now demanded, the Senate should order his release. After prologues in the late Senator Theodorico Santos from Senators Manoel Vilela and Epitacio, the Senate adjourned on request for the minority of the deceased. —Chamber of Deputies.—For want of a quorum there was no sitting of this Chamber.

PROVINCIAL NOTES

—It is said that there is still much fever in Pernambuco, although the newspapers have very little to say about it.

—The governor of Rio de Janeiro, Dr. José Thomaz de Faria, has resumed the administration of that state today.

—The contractors for furnishing supplies to immigrants in Paraná are complaining of not receiving payments from the government.

—There has been an absolute dearth of news from Rio Grande the past week. Perhaps it is due to the pacifying influence of our long-lost minister of war.

—A telegram of the 8th inst. from Ceará states the sectional judge at that place had issued a warrant for preventing the departure of the Magalhães, against which the agents of the British Line had presented a claim of £5,000 for tonnage by the Magalhães.

—It is announced that the chief of police of S. Paulo will not permit the organization of a corps of private watchmen for the protection of property against burglars. In that case the chief assumes a grave responsibility; he must either protect the property himself, or rest under the suspicion of protecting the thieves.

—The situation in Santa Catharina has been unchanged during the past week. Hereford and his triumphant army of Germans and Poles have returned to their homes betrayed, disappointed and defeated, and will probably never again accept an assurance of co-operation from the national forces. Elisa and his officials are back in their places and are ruling the state as before. The telegraph is now silent as the grave and Col. Valladao is on his return.

—São Paulo was treated to a "choleroid scare" on the 13th, which was caused by a rumor that cases of cholera had appeared at the immigrants' hospitais. It turned out to be only a case or two of cholera, but it was sufficient to bring out a mob of excited officials, the whole force of the sanitary department, and all the absurd recourses which a lot of ignorant officials can devise. The sick people were hurried off to the hospital for contagious diseases, where they will probably die from neglect, their rooms and baggage were disinfected, and a sanitary cordon was established about the hospitais. The whole city was in a panic over such precautions, which are ingeniously charged to the credit of "speculators." It is apparently overlooked that a parcel of frightened officials, establishing rigid cordons, is far worse than a host of speculators.

—The Rio Grande correspondent of the Times of Argentina makes the following comments on the Wandenkolk habeas corpus order of the 27th ult.:—"The Wandenkolk incident continues to be the topic and marvel of the day. It now appears that he really had no concerted arrangements with the land forces, which he asserted would attack Rio Grande and co-operate with him. On serious consideration, it seems improbable that Generals Saraiva, whose only art consists in rapid strokes and isolated garrisons, and then more rapid retreats to the frontier, was likely to attempt an attack on Rio Grande, without previously taking Pôrto, thus leaving his rear completely unprotected and all hope of escape cut off, in case of failure. Rio Grande is situated on a peninsula enclosed by the river on two sides and the sea on the other, which in its narrowest part only measures a few miles in width. Once in Rio Grande, the revolutionists would have been attacked in the rear by the concentrated troops, well supplied with artillery, commanded by General Telles, and by sea would certainly have been bombarded by the Repubblica and other ironclads, to which Wandenkolk and his petty fleet could have offered little or no resistance."

A reporter of the Pais newspaper in Rio pretends to have interviewed Wandenkolk, who, he says, stated that the "bombardment of Rio Grande was simply horrible, that not even in the Paraguayan war did he ever witness anything comparable with it." If so, one begins to faintly understand what Luther has been an unreluctant engine how a handful of Paraguayans withstood the united power of Brazil, Argentina and Bahia Oriental for seven long years, and even wonder that the war is still going on. As I told you in my last, the bombardment of Rio Grande amounted to "shots fired by the rebels and about a dozen or two fired from the shore, only one of which hit a mark! Nothing very horrible about that!"

RAILROAD NOTES

—Decree No. 1,310, of the 10th inst., grants an extension of two years to the time fixed for finishing work on the railway from Taubaté to Ubatuba.

—The reason advanced by Senator Christianiano Ottom for not granting a privilege for the Rio and Entre Rios line (because it will take six years to build it) and the congestion of traffic will be at an end is an assumption somewhat like that used in reducing the expenditure of money on the line between São Paulo and Santos. There are many who still think the increase in traffic only temporary, and that when the roads have time to remove the accumulated freight no more trouble will be experienced. These prophets evidently look for retrogression in the immediate future.

—The Senate rejected the Danker bill on the 11th by a large majority. We must therefore submit reticently to the incapacity, irresponsibility, stupidity and dishonesty which characterizes the administration of the Central line, or hire males to carry on the necessary traffic with the interior. Now it is that the Journal can demand the present administration of the Central line, and wish for its continuance, are not understandable. And our people or knows as well as we do, that there is absolutely no hope for an improvement as long as the road remains under government control.

—Mr. Charles F. Yeaman, an American engineer who has had twenty years experience in the surveying and construction of railways in South America, has written a long article to show that the Pan-American road will not pay if built. At the least, he says, the road would have to compete for over 1,600 miles with the sea route, the average railway rate of a cent a mile, or half of the average railway rate. At least 300 miles of the line at the isthmus the country is entirely unsettled, except where the Panama road crosses it, and taking the cost of the Panama road, 47½ miles costing $8,000,000, this part of the road would cost $53,700,000. The repairs alone would cost about $200,000 per mile, or more than the total traffic.

—The exhibit of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, in the transportation building of the Chicago Exposition, is the most extensive display of locomotive engines ever made. There are fifteen engines of as many different designs. Twelve are located near together in the annex of the transportation building, but three are at other points. One of these is a large portable exhibit outside the building. Another heads the train which comprises the exhibit of Pullman palace cars, and the third is at the head of the road blue train which forms a portion of the Baltimore & Ohio railway. Arrangements have been made to have all the engines in the space assigned to the Baldwin Locomotive Works jacked up so that their drivers will not come in contact with the rails, and operated by the introduction of air pressure to the cylinders.

COFFEE NOTES

—The arrivals of coffee in the United States east of the Rocky mountains during the year ended June 30th last aggregated 4,283,239 bags, against 4,617,019 bags in 1891-92.

—The Estado de Yucatan gives the total export of coffee from that port, we presume for the crop year though no period is mentioned, as 24,672 bags, in which the export duties amounted to 124,426$560.

—The new report that coffee in Mexico went into effect on July 1st. It amounts to $3.00 per 100 kilograms, and will unquestionably prove prejudicial to the development of coffee production in that country.

—There was much complaint in New York among coffee dealers over the suppression of coffee messages to Brazil and the comments were anything but flattering to the government which had adopted so onerous and unnecessary a measure. The losses caused were heavy, but there was no recourse for it.

—In an article on Jamaica, in Scribner's for July, the good qualities of the coffee produced in that island are referred to. "We are told, however," says the writer, "that the quintessence of all is the rat coffee, or the seeds from berries which have been gnawed, and this coffee is set apart as the finest and most delicious of all."

—The prospects of this year's crop of Java coffee become more and more discouraging. In most districts the yield is less than formerly, and on many plantations the result at the gathering of the fruit has been worse than earlier promise led planters to hope. Only the Liberia plantations promise rather a better yield. The last estimate received by the government was 134,555 piculs of Java, and 7,800 piculs of Menado, the quantities which will be held as follows: At Batavia: on July 26, on August 23, on October 18, and November 22, each about 25,000 piculs; at Palembang: on July 31, on October 17, and on December 19, each about 20,000 piculs.

—The facilities offered by this country for the growing of coffee, at present one of the most profitable of tropical crops, are attracting much attention in the United States. A short time ago we noticed the taking up by Americans for coffee culture of large tracts of land on the isthmus of Tehuantepec, and since then the enterprise has taken definite shape under the name of the Mexico Land Improvement company. Following the lead of this company several private individuals have made purchases of coffee lands in other parts of the state of Vera Cruz. Some of these investors have settled on their plantations in order personally to acquire a knowledge of the business of coffee-growing, while others have appointed agents to watch over their interests. As long as the price of coffee rises high, the interest of American capital in Mexican coffee land is likely to continue. The unfavorable conditions of the labor market in Brazil and the unsettled state of affairs there generally, have furnished Mexico with her golden opportunity in the matter of coffee production. —Western Financier, June 24th.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

—In May last the board of directors of the Strangers' Hospital re-elected upon the appointment of a committee in London for the purpose of selecting a Matron for that institution, and invitations were sent to Messrs. Charles Edward Johnston, John Gordon, R. M. Landon, P. S. Nielson and L. O. Cason to serve in that capacity. According to letters just received from Mr. Johnston, the committee has secured the services of Miss Rawlinson, of Gay's Hospital, who is most highly recommended and has had much experience in hospital work. She leaves England on the 7th prox, and is to bring a nurse with her for one of the vacancies on the nursing staff. We are also advised that the Royal Mail Co. has most generously offered to give free passages for Miss Rawlinson and her companion on their steamer at Sept. 7th.

—The Secretary desires to again call attention to the necessities of the Hospital in the line of annual subscriptions. There are many who have not been asked to subscribe, owing to a lack of time, and he asks that they will be kind enough to send in their names should he be able to see them. For the present the Hospital needs all the help its friends can give, for its earnings are yet but a small part of its expenditure.

LOCAL NOTES

—The gas company has begun the erection of new lamp-posts throughout the city.

—The gas company's fiscal committee, to levy daily fines upon the company for having a dog and for not having a dog.

—The British cruiser Sirius is leaving for Bahia to-day or to-morrow. The gunboat Reer is also leaving for Pernambuco.

—As congressmen are anxious to reach home in order to prepare for the coming elections, it is thought that the budget bill will not be voted this year. The progress now making indicates that, aside from any other cause.

—The steamer Jupiter is evidently an ill-lated ship. On the 10th ten men of the naval battalion, stationed on board, fell into a petty quarrel, when one of them procured a gun and shot the other through the head, killing him instantly.

—The Portuguese corvette Mindell, which arrived here last Friday, was sent, according to the Comercio da Paria, in view of a telegram on the state of the country, received on the 15th ult. by the Portuguese government from its minister in this city.

—We are requested to announce that prayer meetings will be held every Thursday, at 1 p. m., at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 96 Rua de Assumpção, 1st floor. Christians of all denominations and nationalities and of both sexes are invited to attend.

—When a newspaper editor turns soldier he should be careful not to mount anything more fiery than a clothes-horse. Our colleague, Col. Manuel Gatta, of the Pais, forgot this the other day, and with the result that he was damped into the street, new uniform, sword and all. Since then the Pais has been much less bellicose in tone.

—Another example of "order and progress" was seen in Rua do Catovel on Sunday evening, where a soldier of the 7th battalion of infantry was stabbed and killed by a soldier of the 1st battalion of engineers. The assassin was caught red-handed, the knife covered with blood, and with blood stains on his cuff and trousers, and yet he coolly denied the crime.

—Barão de Santa Tecla, brother of Gen. Tavares, arrived here from Montevideo on the 10th inst. He is in bad health and will go to Caxambu. The Journal do Commercio of Rio de Janeiro published an "interview" with him in regard to Rio Grande affairs. He asserts that the only pacification possible lies in the retirement of João de Castilhos and his party from power.

—We hear that the treatment accorded to the crew of the Jupiter at Santa Cruz fortress was far from generous and equitable. Although these men, many of whom are Englishmen, could have known nothing of the conspiracy and had absolutely nothing to do with the affair except to obey orders, they were kept in close confinement at the fort and were treated like prisoners. They had nothing but the bare floor to sleep on, were fed on rice and cumaru beans, were allowed to speak to no one, and had no change of clothing for three weeks. Such barbarities will not serve to improve the reputation which this country has already gained. As several of the victims were Englishmen, and as many others of that nationality are employed in the steamers trading on this coast, we hope vigorous steps will be taken to secure indemnity for this treatment.

MARKET REPORT.

Rio de Janeiro, 14th August, 1893.

Exports.

Coffee.—The market has still been influenced by the uncertainty financial position in the United States, and the business here has been of a retail character—4,000 to 5,000 bags changing hands daily—the total sales for the week probably reaching 20,000 bags. At the same time shipments continue to about equal the receipts, and the stocks, in all hands, during the week have increased only about 2,000 bags. With an uncertain exchange market and no accumulation of 178,000 per arroba for No. 7, with dealers generally pessimistic that with an improvement in business in the United States, there will be a resumption of purchases in the coffee market, and that therefore there is no need of showing anxiety to place the market at present. To this may be added that the exchange market also is not in a position to encourage and renewal activity in the market for coffee, and that the holders of the former. Holders of high priced coffee—coffee we think must be prepared to meet losses, but we are still doubtful as to the results of a decline upon the gold value of the bean. On the 10th quotations were declared to be nominal, but some of the brokers quoted on the basis of 18,000 for No. 7. Since this date the reports have been various, and the quotations furnished by one of the brokers this morning we give below, adding, however, that these do not generally represent sellers' ideas. Receipts have fallen off sharply during the week, and the market shows such irregularity that it may be fairly conjectured that coffee is being held tight; manipulations of this description, we fear, will be feature in the market rather than the former, and coffee is not so firm, but exporters still show little inclination to purchase, beyond immediate requirements here, while the New York Exchange certainly offers inducements for purchases there.

The weekly report from Santos gives receipts of 15,000 bags, sales of 2,000 bags, but the Europe and Asia at 18,000 bags. The market was reported steady at 12,500 per 100 lbs. for Good Average, at 300 s. lower than a week ago.

The shipments since our last report have been:

Stocks were this morning estimated to be 237,201 bags, in all hands.

There was no change made in the Paraná on Saturday, and it remains at 1242 per kilogramme, and no official quotations were published. Brokers' quotations this morning were:

NECTANDRA AMARA

Marvelous discovery in the Brazilian Vegetation

The application of a medicinal substance solely by itself, presents before the modern therapeutics all the advantages which can be expected with regard to the sick as well as to its own quality as a medicinal agent; and the once famous polypharmacy has finally been substituted by the application of simple remedies.

The advantage of it is doubtless with the sick, because given solely, it knows easily what to refer to, either to the improvements or to new symptoms, which perhaps may appear.

The which is difficult, however, to find out the agent which will fill in a complete and perfect way the conditions presented; the more we, therefore, simplify the therapeutics, the more probabilities we shall have of a good success.

We have all reasons to refer the attention to the present case, because the question is of a simple remedy, that is, one which contains only the tincture of which is composed

NECTANDRA AMARA.

The following analysis was expressly made by my colleague and friend Dr. Gustavo Pedotti for the International Formulary: he was resisted in this work by his worthy father the glory of the pharmaceutical class of Brazil:

"NECTANDRA AMARA" is used safely and with efficacy in cases of chronic dyspepsia, diarrhoea and dysentery, be it acute or chronic, leucorrhoea, etc., etc., and furthermore all preparations of the Chemist Antero Leivas are recommended by different well-known physicians, so that there can be no any doubts about their efficacy." (From the Formulary International of Dr. Pires de Almeida, an eminent Brazilian physician.)

Sea Sickness.

Every traveller should be provided in his sea voyages with a bottle of tincture of NECTANDRA AMARA, to use against the terrible sufferings of this sickness, as soon as it appears.

A teaspoonful is sufficient in this instance, in a tablespoonful two grammes of pure water, taken every two hours, will promptly and with efficacy relieve him against this evil and it is well to know that he who is provided with this tincture, possesses a powerful remedy to cure any kind of stomach diseases or disarrangements of the bowels.

The tincture of NECTANDRA AMARA of Antero Leivas is sold at all chemist shops in Brazil.

The depot of the manufacturer is in Rio de Janeiro at
No. 74 Rua de S. Pedro.

NECTANDRA AMARA PILLS.

For all diseases of the stomach and disorders of the bowels there is no more powerful medicine than these health-giving pills which for 4800 per box or 12000 for 6 boxes and 28000 for 1 box, are specially in a registered packet by post to help the sick in any part of Brazil or abroad, from wherever they may be needed. Address Joaquin Baccus de Miranda, Rua de S. Pedro No. 74, Rio de Janeiro.
